The expression of the epidermal growth factor receptor (EGFR) is known to be up-regulated in colon, breast and other epithelial cancers. We sought to determine whether the EGFR expression was altered in the liver of patients with alcoholic liver disease, with the possible intent of developing a therapeutic modality. The liver biopsy specimens of 43 patients with alcoholic liver disease (19 with alcoholic hepatitis, 10 with steatohepatitis and 14 without any liver disease) and six patients with cholestatic liver disease (cholangitis) were examined. The expression of EGFR protein was detected by immunohistochemistry using anti-EGFR monoclonal antibodies
