HDR, or high dynamic range, photography technology allows the photographers to capture photos with varying exposure levels all in one image. Let's say, you want to take a photograph of a car on a dark road at night. With this method, you can have a picture with an exposure level of 0.01 and a picture with an exposure level of 1000, all in the same photo. So, with this awesome technology, you can now take a picture with different exposure levels in one photograph. You can adjust the brightness, color, and contrast in order to get the best result. You can also increase the brightness of certain areas of the photo, for example, the moon in the sky. If you want to learn how to apply this kind of photography in your photos, you have come to the right place. Within this application, there is a tutorial that teaches you how to apply the High Dynamic Range photography for the first time, and afterwards, there is a tutorial that shows you how to apply the effects to your photos.
