Something like this: REMOTE_USER = REMOTE_USERNAME For /f "skip=1 tokens=" %%F in (C:\Share\TEMP) do for %%G in (C:\Share\TEMP.txt) do MD C:\Share\TEMP\%%G MD C:\Share\TEMP\%%F CALL myFunction("[*]%%G []%%F []%REMOTE_USER%") My issue is that I would like to be able to use the REMOTE_USER variable in the script and have it be dynamically updated each time the script is run. I have tried many things, including dynamically setting the variables and even trying to see if remote_user existed, and it always displays blank (with

A year after the events of The Witcher 3: Wild Hunt, Geralt of Rivia has become a hero, but his quest for revenge against Yennefer and the forces of the Ciri will change him forever.He can accept the wager offered by the Emperor Talsarian, leader of the Empire, as an act of charity, but there are many things he can't live with. Pursue the truth about his past, fight for the future, and discover the terrifying truth of his own nature. An Adventurer's Tale. Rich Pinkerton, .An Adventurer's Tale.
