Luminary is a Role Playing Game (RPG), with a deep yet light system, where instead of a strict class system, the game progresses in Action, that can change the way you play. You can be a Magic User, a Thief, a Combatant, a Swimmer, or any other combination of any one skill. You can use any weapons, use no weapons, and create whatever you want; a poison-resistant Magic User, or a heavily armored character. There are no limitations, it is your game. Luminary blends the deep story, intense combat, and beautiful visuals of the open world roleplaying genre in a deep yet accessible system. Progression in Luminary is based on the skill system, which allows you to progress in any action you choose. Luminary is developed and published by SingleTracked, the studio behind the smash hit Pony Island. Development Progress Almost one year has passed since the Early Access release. We came back from 2017 seeing all of the changes that we made as a team. We have been doing weekly updates to fix and implement new ideas, give the game more polish and fixing even more issues. We are slowly adding more content and features with lots of plans for expansion. Features added in last year: - More customization - More Arsenal of Masses - More Skills and different actions - Loot System - Item/Spell Changes - Friends system - Customize your character - Armor Customization (slot, stats, color) - Weapons Customization - Select your Race - New Enemies, Maps, Bosses - More Features - No Pay to Win! Additional Assets - Screenshots - Videos - Weapon/Armor Profiles - Lore from the developers You can find Luminary on Steam Greenlight, It would be awesome if you could follow us there and show us some love. Disclaimer: This is the Early Access Release. The Story and Experience will be developed/messed up over time. There is a chance for additional major changes to the core mechanics (but not guarantees). Please be advised that the developers don't have the ability to guarantee that the game will work properly/your experience will be consistently the same as your friends. You will have the chance to help us help the Luminary team by reporting any issues and requests you have about the game, this is just the start. Thank you, SingleTracked, The Luminary Game Team Luminary

A Dead Reckoning The Longest Night is coming again and the Starseers are warning of a new threat on the horizon. Some people think that the Starseers are just terrified of being struck down by the darkness, others believe that they are spreading a lie to make the people more malleable. Whatever the case may be, the Starseers want to save all those who need saving and their prophecies have told them that there is only one path to save everyone, and that is to liberate the family of Adamir, the fallen Archangel. The family have been suffering for a very long time, paying the price for the crimes of their forebears. There is a prophecy that Adamir must be reborn and if that can be done then the Starseers will finally be free to stop the corruption and save humanity. Unfortunately, the only evidence of this prophecy is a piece of a stone from the first Age carved with an image of the archangel. It is up to the characters to free Adamir, usher in the Longest Night and stop the corruption.

The Cursed Lands

The land of Mythgard has been a place of enlightenment for the past several centuries. The history of the land started with a civilization of mystics, witches and druids who worshipped the Gods of Light. As the people started asking more from their Gods, the powers of the Gods started to change and slowly their older Gods turned against them. The people fought back, the conflict between the Gods and their people lasted for centuries, until the Gods of Light decided to attack the land of Mythgard, seeking to eliminate their enemies. Those that survived of the God of Light then found themselves exiled from the land of Mythgard, and the land became infested with the undead and infernals. Since then, the land has been changing and being split up into fiefdoms for different cities, kingdoms and realms, all working to fend off invasion by those from the Old Kingdoms. The Tomb The adventure takes place in a tomb of very great age. The tomb is carved into a very hard rock and once inside the adventurers see that the tomb is very well constructed and carved with some subtle magic to keep it open. The door in the centre of the tomb is marked as the entrance to an Ancient God/angel. The door once closed leaves the tomb open. The Tomb of Adamir is very poorly guarded, probably on purpose, so the adventure is designed to give the characters the chance to search the tomb, enter into the closed door

The Forsaken Gods - Let Us Call You Back!The Forsaken Gods - Let Us Call You Back!This is more like it. Before a poor number of living people were introduced to the games - with the advent of the PC version all of us geeks are pretty much in the same situation as that boy in the quote. In the name of publishing standards, Capcom has decided to remove the soundtrack from the collector's edition. I think it's a disgrace.If you want to know more about the subject, take a look at this article, and this thread. Another thread about the game can be found here: I'm just one fan with nothing better to do than stand in the corner. Yes, this is a bit off topic, but I think that the game deserves to be mentioned here. At least on of the most played game (even if it is by an example) deserves this attention. The Forsaken Gods - Let Us Call You Back!The Forsaken Gods - Let Us Call You Back!Another great track by C9, I will have to add it to my "song rotation" now that it's available for download. Hope to hear more C9! - I find it a shame that people here seem to forget that they're dealing with music, and not solely a MIDI track. As much as some people on here like to tell you what's wrong with music, if you were trying to take this seriously, you'd realize that this particular track's quality, and being the only audio track, doesn't matter. I'm not trying to make some sort of political statement, I really am just concerned. Some people complain that I shouldn't post the track here, because it's more of a game soundtrack than music, and then go on to insist that I shouldn't post it. People can easily get a MIDI track and upload it themselves. If they want to mock the game they'd have no problem with it, so why such a hard stance on this? Having the track with the game sounds much better, especially considering that people wouldn't be able to play it on their computer. If you're not using MP3, what you need to do is go into your folder

What's new in Food Monster And Animals Memory Match:

Group Race Results Kian Catsfield (Aus) today announced that he is ending his 2016 season after a fantastic last couple of months. The well known Mantis Burn racer has shown so much consistency over a period of time which came to a great end. Kian came 3rd in Leeds Semi-Finals and went on to be 4th in the final. Armstrong had a rocky start to his season battling some injuries out of the blocks but fought his way back to the top 10 on numerous occasions. The unfortunate end to his season cost him valuable championship points. He placed 8th in the final. Mrinal's first Mantis Burn Racing® season was a good one, achieving the final spot on the podium at a number of events. He also made the final in Newcastle this season. Alessio and Heather had a strong season capped off with a sensational 6th placed at UMS Birmingham. Atharius didn't truly make it to the top 10 of any of this season's events and will be hoping for a better end to the season next year. Simulacer and Frail gave another solid season in top 10 placings finishing 8th at both Staffordshire and Leeds. Cyclonic and Enzo's campaign struggled at its first event but the pair saw benefits from their experience and managed to make the top 10 in a few events but couldn't complete the course in others. Wycoto's first season was great, showing he's more than able to compete at the higher end. He managed a a top 10 and made the final in a lot of events but was a bit off form at others. Hope was also a great success for the team and showed he's much more than just a kid from the sticks who brings mates to every event. He showed he can compete and win against those well known at this level. Hope snared 5th in the 2011 final. A lot of girls' careers started with Mantis Burn Racing® including Tykiana, Sandii, Jodie, Alexia, Amber and Peta. The positives from this season include Tykiana taking overall Victory and the brand new women's class 'Elite' Challenge. The new Elite class has transformed racing for women with the girls always there to support each other. The youngsters are also growing up fast and at 5 years old are showing they are going to be formidable opponents in years to come.
