The journey of the brave swordless heroes begins...

Easy game using the Ren'py game engine, a community project of Ren'py Development Team.

For any problem: email contact@renpy.org Over on the main site, the announcement for the theme switch indicates that no theme in particular is being removed, but that they are being scaled down a bit. The general reasoning for the theme switch isn't too bad, as they feel like they could have been really living up to their potential. Just the engine being a bit quirky with major regressions quite a few times lately, and the old IRC/freenode server not having a backup at all for a while. Not a great time to mess with the code. On the author side, it's hard to build expectations as there haven't been any big recent announcements. I've found most of the folks I've met since the split to be quite nice, and I've been happy with the development. I cant stop I gotta go buy the game.Amazing that it makes you feel a bit sad. It's a very wonderful game. First time I played it. Really awesome. Zombie Planet looks really good. A high quality game with unique gameplay and great visuals. I recommend it to anyone looking for a simple fun game. I'm not a big fan of Survival-shooter games, but I don't mind when it is done right. The most I'd play a game like this is for 10-15 minutes tops. A fun, quick game with a good atmosphere. There are a lot of zombies you start out with. I was trying to make sure that I have enough cash to build a house and upgrade weapons. If you make it through a level with just sticks and guns, you'll win. Thanks for letting me know, In the next update, i will add Save. You will have to remember which place you put in save for a return to play. That's what I would like to do. Added the option of change the background of the game. You can now choose from a grey background, to a town, an arctic environment, a forest,and many more. You can change the environment before the game starts. I love the game because it is FUN! I love the atmospheres you can get! It makes me feel good to play! It can also be a scary game! Don't let the zombie get to you! It's only once in a while that you come across the zombies. Most of the time it's

- Dev Blog By: Shiny (Japanese) Originally published on the Sony HADOUKEN (Japanese) site. Similar to the dev blog earlier, I would like to explain some of the motivations behind Cosmic Frontier. I believe that it makes for a much more fun game this way. We have a no background theme for the Portal Shooter, and a pretty plain one for the Space Shooter. This is one reason why we have both but only a small number of costumes, even going as far as having three of them, which had existed at some point but was eventually removed. As long as we only had games like the Portal Shooter, the Space Shooter and The Hero Protector, people could only be motivated by the story of the characters they play as to explore and battle in the game, and not whether they have access to a cool costume or not. The more choices you have in the game interface, the more points you collect. For Cosmic Frontier, the themes and backgrounds have been carefully thought out so that the themes correspond to the genres for each game, which allows players to collect points if they prefer the story or character of one or another. For those who prefer the Portal Shooter, they can get their costumes from the background collection to play through the game with an even more unique and fun experience. The background themes have a completely different feel to them that will make Cosmic Frontier the most enjoyable Space Shooter available. For the Space Shooter, which we realize is currently rather simplistic and bland, people will have the chance to dress and play in a more pleasing fashion. This isn't to say that there won't be an accessory system at all, as we are already considering adding some of these to the Space Shooter. As for The Hero Protector, we wanted the costumes would depend on the gameplay, so that not everyone would have the same access to them. That is why we have given The Hero Protector its theme, and in addition, there are many more options to choose from, allowing The Hero Protector to play like a fairly varied game. In the game, the backgrounds alternate on a seven, three and seven point system. The background provided in Cosmic Frontier is all hand drawn with real objects. Overall, the backgrounds are designed so that the outer layers are misty to capture a nice calming feeling, while the center is what brings out a more exciting and stunning feeling. In addition, we have provided 5K effects for full-
