What's new:

Z GALLO TORRIBIO, Inter/Comm. Vice - MARELLA BELPORTIN, Executive Commissioner, International Commission for Migration/Préfet des Alpes Maritimes: His Excellency, GUEZ PAMBOLA, President, Commissar for Migration, Director General for Antimigré Activities, Maritime Prefect: 1. INTRODUCTION The Congress of the World Migrant Organization has as its purpose the formulation and dissemination of basic policy objectives to be considered in the political, social, economic, cultural and human areas, concerning the world problems of migration. 2. LAND ATTRACHES The "year of the World Land Attaches" is drawing to a close. The aim is to give a broad orientation to the major issues currently affecting the lives of migrants on the one hand, and to contribute to the formulation and implementation of policies for the adequate monitoring and handling of the migratory phenomenon. The analysis of the situation carried out at the beginning of 2001 shows that despite the progressive development of new controls, at the European level, at the level of the African Union, in the Mediterranean area, in Asia and the Far East, the situation of migrants and refugees—which far exceeds the capacity of the existing systems of action, albeit positive—continues to be a source of concern and fear. This concern affects the possibility of guaranteeing the most fundamental rights and fundamental freedoms for the whole population including migrants and refugees. As manifested in the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court of the United Nations, which was adopted on 17 June 1998, land migration is now officially recognised as a phenomenon worthy of protection. As lawyers and judges from around the world begin to deal with the issue of land migration from the legal point of view, the question which arises is whether a more active protection of human rights is still possible, at least in the field of access to the land. In recent times the cohesion of the Community acquires, besides the economic aspect, a humane aspect which must gain formal recognition. The question of immigration has been exclusively on the law and order agenda for too long. It was one of the outstanding results of the Brussels Summit in 1995 that in the context of the European Charter of Fundamental Rights the Union was able to integrate the principles of the right to live with dignity and equality into its body of law, thus, in fact, indicating the horizontal nature of the problem. Under Article 7(
