This results in the message "Sorry, this page isn't linkable because it is missing an Open Graph object." I'm trying to work with the og:url key, but the issue is that the "open graph object" doesn't exist... only links that are shared. Is there any way to link those links? I'm using C#. Tks! A: You can use fb:app_id to do this. It will point to your Facebook Application in your website and the user will have the ability to Share the application profile, to share the URL link and it will be clickable. Here is a link to have a better understanding: Facebook API Application URLs Vision improvement by adult epikeratophakia.
